MESA FAMILY HISTORY

INTRODUCTION

This is a compilation of the muster and service records of Lt. Col. P.T. Herbert's Battalion of Arizona Cavalry for the Confederate States of America found in the records of the National Archives and Records Service of the General Services Administration in Washington, D.C. If you find a missing ancestor on this list, I would suggest that you contact the National Archives. Information on these Confederate records is very scarce, and we thought that the records of the only Confederate battalion raised in Arizona in the Civil War would be good published for genealogists who have not the fortunes of being able to travel to Washington, and would add to our store of knowledge concerning men who lived in the Arizona Territory during those troubled times.

Herbert's Battalion was organized by General Henry H. Sibley, C.S.A. part of 1862 independent companies raised in 1861 in the Arizona Territory. These companies of men were the ones who fought the "Invading" California Column on its way to New Mexico and Texas. The Battalion was broken up in May 1863 and most of the men then reenlisted in Texas regiments. It was also known as 1st Texas Arizona Battalion Mounted Rifles and Herbert's Battalion Arizona Mounted Rifles.
